Fal. You'r welcome, what's your will? giue vs leaue Drawer.

Ford. Sir, I am a Gentleman that haue ſpent much, my name is Broome.

Fal. Good Maſter Broome, I deſire more acquaintance of you.

Ford. Good Sir Iohn, I ſue for yours; not to charge you, for I muſt let you vnderſtand, I thinke my ſelfe in better plight for a Lender, then you are; the which hath ſomething emboldned mee to this vnſeaſon'd intruſion: for they ſay, if money goe before, all waies doe lye open.

Fal. Money is a good Souldier (Sir) and will on.

Ford. Troth, and I haue a bag of money heere troubles me; if you will helpe to beare it (Sir Iohn) take all, or halfe for eaſing me of the carriage.

Fal. Sir, I know not how I may deſerue to bee your Porter.

Ford. I will tell you Sir, if you will giue mee the hearing.

Fal. Speake (good Maſter Broome) I ſhall be glad to be your Seruant.

Ford. Sir, I heare you are a Scholler; (I will be briefe with you) and you haue beene a man long knowne to me, though I had neuer ſo good meanes as deſire, to make my ſelfe acquainted with you. I ſhall diſcouer a thing to you, wherein I muſt very much lay open mine own imperfection: but (good Sir Iohn) as you haue one eye vpon my follies, as you heare them vnfolded, turne another into the Regiſter of your owne, that I may paſſe with a reproofe the eaſier, ſith you your ſelfe know how eaſie it is to be ſuch an offender.

Fal. Very well Sir, proceed.

Ford. There is a Gentlewoman in this Towne, her husbands name is Ford.

Fal. Well Sir.

Ford. I haue long lou'd her, and I proteſt to you, beſtowed much on her; followed her with a doating obſeruance;

ſeruance; Ingroſs'd opportunities to meete her, free ſlight occaſion that could but nigardly giue mee ſi her, not onely brought many preſents to giue her, b giuen largely to many, to know what ſhe would hau briefly, I haue purſu'd her, as Loue hath purſud mee, hath beene on the wing of all occaſions; but whatſ
haue merited, either in my minde, or in my meanes
I am ſure I haue receiued none, vnleſſe Experienc Iewell, that I haue purchaſed at an infinite rate, a hath taught me to ſay this.

"Loue like a ſhadow flies, when ſubſtance Loue purſ
"Purſuing that that flies, and flying what purſues.

Fal. Haue you receiu'd no promiſe of ſatisfaction hands?

Ford. Neuer.

Fal. Haue you importun'd her to ſuch a purpoſe?

Ford. Neuer.

Fal. Of what qualitie was your loue then?

Ford. Like a faire houſe, built on another mans g ſo that I haue loſt my edifice, by miſtaking the place Ierected it.

Fal. To what purpoſe haue you vnfolded this to m

Ford. When I haue told you that, I haue told y
Some ſay, that though ſhee appeare honeſt to mee other places ſhee enlargeth hir mirth ſo farre, tha is ſhrewd conſtruction made of her. Now (Sir Iohn is the heart of my purpoſe: you are a Gentleman cellent breeding, admirable diſcourſe, of great admi authenticke in your place and perſon, generally for your many warlike, court-like, and learned p tions.

Fal. O Sir.

Ford. Beleeue it, for you know it: there is money it, ſpend it, ſpend more; ſpend all I haue, onely giue much of your time in exchange of it, as to lay an a ſiege to the honeſty of this Fords wife: vſe your

W